- WHAT THE SURVEYS SAID
- How do you know your GAL told the court what you wanted to have happen in your case?
- I was there (40 responses in initial 100 surveys).
 - She told me everything that happens in court.
 - My attorney said my GAL and her both told the Court what I wanted to happen.
 - My mother told me my GAL told the court.
 - The judge told me the GAL told the judge.
 - Results in the cases matched what I told my GAL.

WHAT THE SURVEYS SAID

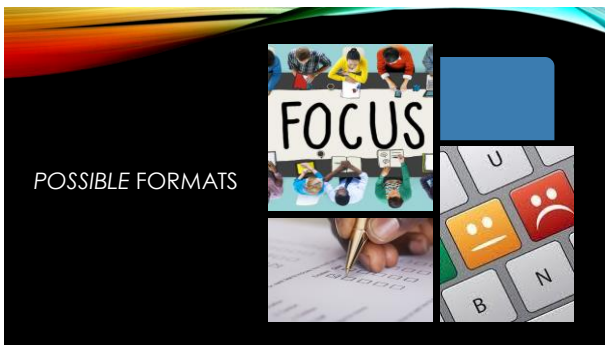

Court went well because...	Court did not go well because...
I was self-sufficient.	We never move forward on my case.
Answered all of my questions.	I was there for 3 seconds and nothing [...] happened.
I got everything I wanted.	I heard some things I didn't want to hear.
I felt like I had good support in place because of my team (CW, GAL etc.)	It didn't go the way I wanted it to.
I got to sit down and have a frosty with my judge.	What could have been done to make you feel more welcome in court? • Be nice to me. • Have food. • Let me speak my ideas to court. • Ask me what I thought was best. • Tell everyone if I do good.
I was doing what I was supposed to.
They listened.
My GAL always spoke my voice for me.
It was interesting, it went well for both sides of the case because my mother got help.
I got to be heard.

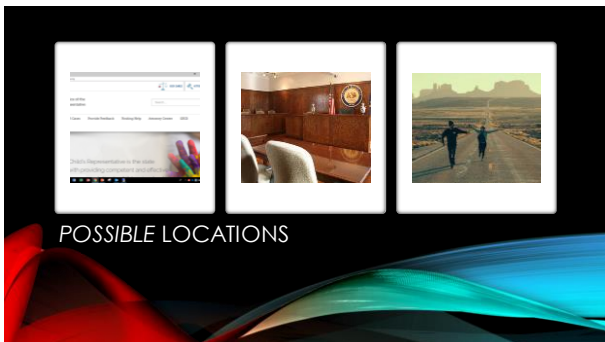

WHAT THE SURVEYS SAID

Some reasons youth provided as to why they trusted their GAL	Some reasons youth provided as to why they did not trust their GAL
He listened.	He never followed up with me, never texted me.
She explained things in detail & made sure everyone knew what I wanted.	I didn't know him/her (4 responses in initial 100 surveys).
She was honest with me & answered all my questions the best she could.	She never talked to me.
She did what she told my sister and me she was going to do. Also, I've had her for 5 years now.	I don't really know her or what else she did.
He understands what I'm saying and cares.	She is confusing.
She always been there for me and understands where I wanna be and do in the future.	She didn't get to know me.
She always did what was best for me.
She stayed with me.
She held her promises.
She had never judge me for who I am.
She is good, doesn't yell.

POSSIBLE CONTENT

- "Have you completed this survey before" was not included in the initial draft, but important to avoid duplication of data.
- "My GAL's name was _____" was difficult for some youth to answer. It was best for OCR staff to be present with appointment lists.
- Separate questions for - (a) did you have a D&N case, (b) did you have a JD case, and (c) did you have both cases - produced inconsistent answers. This time, one case type question with instruction to pick every type they had with their GAL.
- Language: "Did your GAL ask you what you wanted to have happen in your case?" vs. "did your GAL tell the judge what you wanted?"
- Some questions shouldn't just have yes or no answers. Instead, they should have scales like always, usually, sometimes, or never.
